Data Briefing 01
Funds Leveraged
by the Hartford Geriatric Nursing Initiative

Leveraging: A Strong Outcome of the Hartford Geriatric Nursing Initiative

- Hartford Foundation supported [seeded] programs are often subsequently funded by others – usually through a peer-review mechanism – to sustain and enhance the developed programs
- Obtaining additional funds because of having acquired Hartford funding is called “leveraging”
- Leveraging Hartford funding into additional financial support may be one of the better overall summary indices of the maturity of the programs and how they are viewed by peers from a number of disciplines, settings, and theoretical orientations
- What has the financial leveraging of the program been in the five year period from 2001 through 2005?

Leveraging: Estimated New Dollars Generated 2001-2005 Due to Receiving JAHF Funds [in Millions of Dollars]

- Conservative Estimate – includes only funds grantees and the evaluator believe were less than 25% likely to have been generated without JAHF Funding
- Moderate Estimate – includes only funds grantees and the evaluator believe were less than 75% likely to have been generated without JAHF Funding; this number is preferred by the evaluator as the single best estimate
- Total Funding – all funds reported by the grantees and confirmed by the evaluator as having been obtained with the assistance of JAHF Funding; grantees and evaluator believe it is likely that some of these funds would have been received without JAHF Funding
- Note: The Moderate Estimate is a subset of the Total Funding Estimate while the Conservative Estimate is a subset of the Moderate Estimate

Leveraging: Estimated New Dollars Generated 2001-2005 Due to Receiving JAHF Funds [in Millions of Dollars]

- Funds generated by
 - Centers for Geriatric Nursing Excellence at 5 Competitively-Selected Schools of Nursing
 - American Academy of Nursing Coordinating Center
 - Building Academic Geriatric Nursing Scholars Program of 82 Competitively-Selected Predoctoral, Postdoctoral, and MBA Scholars
 - Nursing School Investment Program at 7 Schools of Nursing
 - Hartford Institute for Geriatric Nursing at New York University
 - Programs
 - Summer Scholars
 - American Association of Colleges of Nurses
 - Curriculum Programs at 30 Competitively-Selected Schools of Nursing
 - Advanced Practice Nursing Scholarships at 23 Competitively-Selected Schools of Nursing [Cohort 1]

Leveraging: Estimated New Dollars Generated 2001-2005 Due to Receiving JAHF Funds Across All Programs

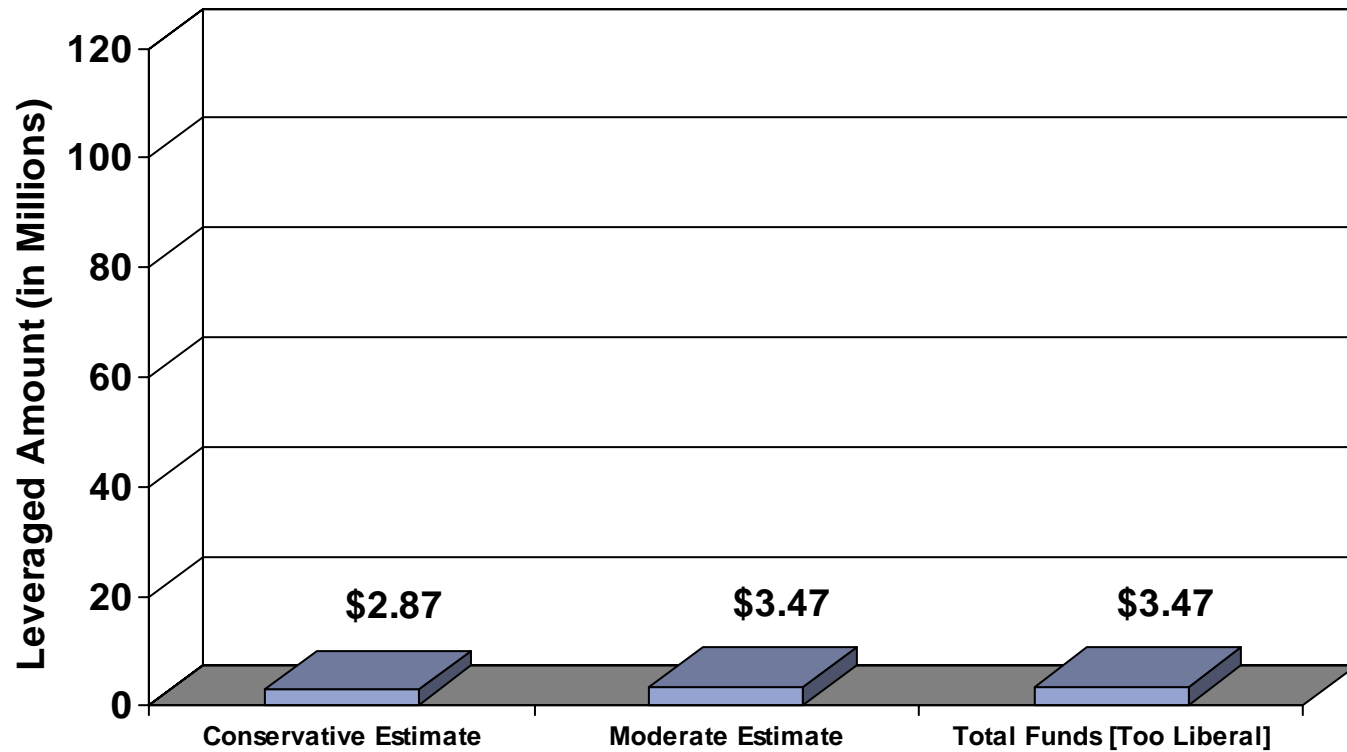

Leveraging: Hartford Centers of Geriatric Nursing Excellence 2001-2005

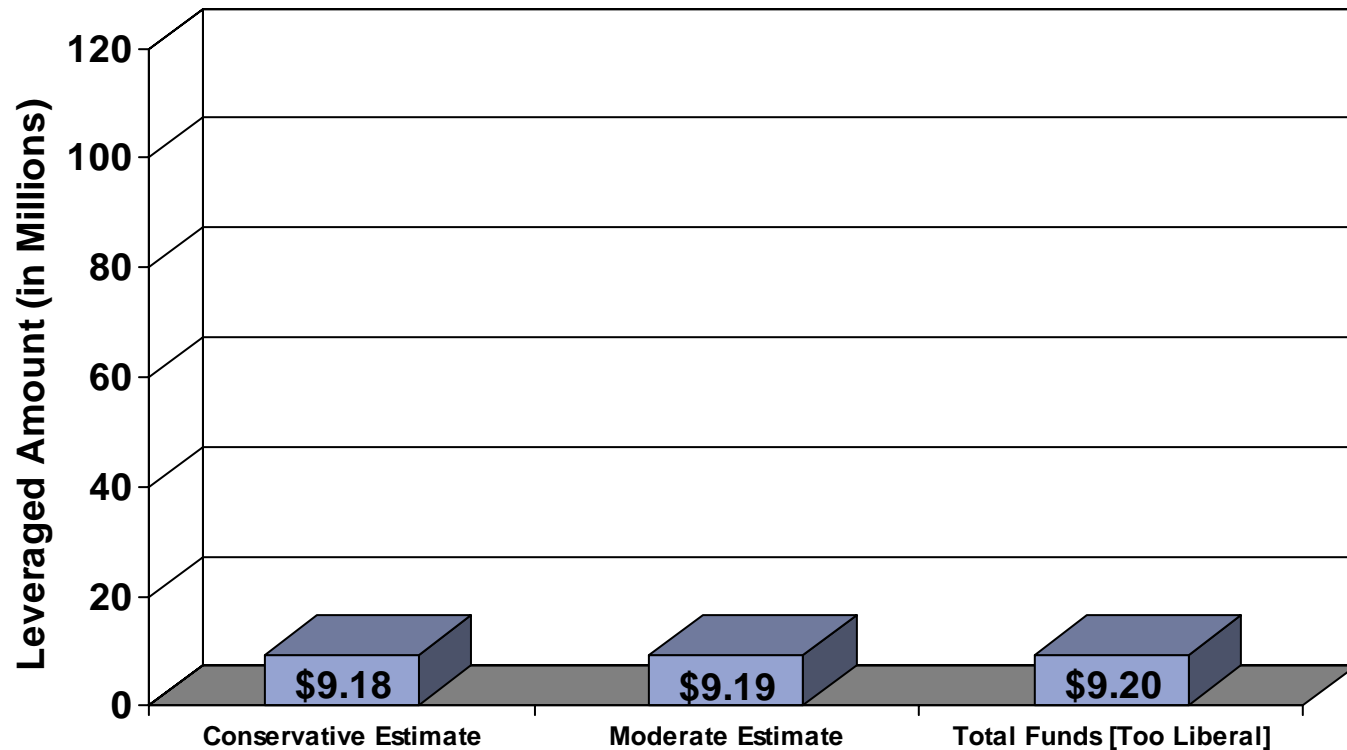

Leveraging: BAGNC Predoctoral Scholars and Postdoctoral Fellows 2001-2005

Leveraging: Other BAGNC Programs [AAN and NSGIP] 2001-2005

Leveraging: Hartford Institute for Geriatric Nursing 2001-2005

Leveraging: Hartford Institute Summer Scholars 2001-2005

Leveraging: Curriculum and Advanced Practice Nursing Programs at the American Association of Colleges of Nursing 2001-2005

Time Period Covered by these Data

- Data on Building Academic Geriatric Nursing Capacity [BAGNC] Predoctoral and Postdoctoral Scholars current through September 2006
- Data on all other program components current through December 2005
- Updated data will be available in the future on all program components except for the completed projects at the American Association of Colleges of Nursing [AACN]

Independent Evaluator's Conclusion

- The programs of the Hartford Geriatric Nursing Initiative are extremely successful at leveraging the awards from the John A. Hartford Foundation into additional, peer-reviewed funding from U.S. government agencies and other foundations
- More than $2 has been leveraged for each $1 spent on the programs to date with large additional returns in the BAGNC Scholars Program expected in the future
- The fact that the programs are successful at receiving additional funds through a peer review process provides important external validation for the view that the programs are valuable ones that should be sustained

Caveats for this Data Briefing

- It is important to recognize that the NSGIP and AACN Programs were not intended to produce large amounts of leveraged resources as these were small, “pilot” grants
- In professional terms, it is not realistic to expect the BAGNC Predoctoral Scholars and Postdoctoral Fellows to receive large grants in the years during and immediately after their tenure in the program
- The leveraging amounts reported for the Hartford Institute Summer Scholars are preliminary estimates that are less precise than the other estimates in this Data Briefing
